An aerial photograph capturing the aftermath of a landslide in a residential area. A massive, dark grey mass of earth and debris has slid down a hillside, completely blocking a narrow street. On the left, several buildings with traditional red-tiled roofs are partially buried or damaged. On the right, a modern building with a red metal roof stands on stilts, partially obscured by the debris. In the center of the blocked street, a group of approximately 20-30 people, many wearing high-visibility orange and yellow safety gear and hard hats, are gathered. Some are holding tools, suggesting active rescue or cleanup efforts. The overall scene is one of significant destruction and emergency response.
