Copyright

Authors must ensure, before making any agreement with or commitment to a publisher at any stage, that the agreement or commitment does not conflict with the author's obligations under Fondazione Telethon's Open Access Policy. More specifically, authors should inform the journal that they have an existing obligation to make their research available through Europe PMC, and investigate whether the publisher's policy is in conflict with this obligation. Telethon's Grant Conditions are mandatory and binding for institutions, grant holders, and all other Telethon funded initiatives. An author's obligation to Telethon will therefore pre-date any agreement with a journal. Authors (or their institution) must not transfer their copyright to a journal without reaching a specific agreement with the journal about deposition of a copy of the final paper in Europe PMC, otherwise they will be in conflict with the Telethon Grant Conditions
